Agency History

The South Carolina Legislature restructured a significant portion of state government in 1993. Effective Feb. 1, 1994, Act 181 created the South Carolina Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation (LLR). It merged the Department of Labor, State Fire Marshal's Office, the S.C. Fire Academy and 38 professional and occupational licensing boards to form the new agency.

The legislation empowered the Governor to appoint a director of the agency with the advice and consent of the Senate.

LLR has been organized into four divisions: Fire and Life Safety, Labor, Professional and Occupational Licensing and Administration.
Mission Statement

The mission of the South Carolina Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation is to protect the safety, health, and well-being of the citizens of South Carolina by the appropriate regulation and education of employers and employees, licensed professionals and occupational practitioners, and property owners and property users.

We will accomplish our mission by:

• promoting a regulatory climate where businesses and individuals can create jobs and wealth which will in turn benefit our citizens;

• conducting appropriate inspection and complaint investigation programs and, when necessary, pursuing enforcement options as provided by law;

• administering licensing, permitting, and certification programs, as provided by law;

• providing appropriate education, information, and outreach programs;

• serving as the state’s fire safety focal point by providing code enforcement, fire safety education and prevention programs, and training to volunteer, paid, and industrial firefighters; and

• responsibly using resources available to us to serve the public in an impartial, consistent, timely, and courteous manner that promotes trust, confidence, and accountability between us and those we serve.
Accomplishments 1997-98

Division of Fire and Life Safety

Office of State Fire Marshal

- Secured computers and software for fire departments to use to report on the S.C. Fire Incident Reporting System.
- Reached more than 50,000 students – kindergarten through third grade – with the “Freddie” fire safety education curriculum. Also developed two videotapes to accomplish in-service training for the “Freddie” curriculum. This reduces the amount of time staff will spend traveling to schools around the state teaching teachers the “Freddie” curriculum.
- Worked with other state agencies in the distribution of smoke detectors and fire safety materials across the state. The office assisted in the distribution of more than 90,000 smoke detectors.
- Conducted five public fire education workshops on various topics.
- Organized the “Adopt-a-Hospital” program with hospitals and local fire departments to ensure fire safety within facilities.
- Increased inspections 4 percent over last year. This is the fourth consecutive year that inspections have increased without increasing staff.
- Conducted 10 State Fire Marshal certification courses at various locations around the state.
- Conducted monthly training sessions covering a range of topics from LP Gas, the Americans with Disabilities Act and modular buildings to the legal aspects of code administration.
- Conducted periodic fire safety training seminars for new foster parents.

The S.C. Fire Academy

- Conducted several public fire service seminars on subjects including ladder training, Chief Fire Officer, firefighting foam and chlorine.
- Conducted two executive fire officer programs in partnership with the S.C. Fire Chiefs Association.
- Offered the first rescue school. It was a six-day course, and 66 students were trained in urban search and rescue.
- Brought the Fire Academy’s studio online and conducted the first video program, at no cost to the public fire service. The program, offered in partnership with the S.C. State Firemen’s Association, reached 1,100 students at 35 locations across the state.
- Conducted the first company officer symposium for about 100 students. It was similar to the Chief Fire Officer program.
- Upgraded and brought online a new 24-hour haz mat operations course and upgraded all eligible haz mat ops instructors to teach the program.
- Revised the instructor training program and brought it up to current NFPA standards.
- Used a federal grant to deliver anti-terrorism training to all emergency responders statewide including law enforcement.
- Received accreditation in the aircraft firefighting course, and incorporated certification into the basic 40-hour aircraft/rescue firefighting program.
- Implemented a computerized program evaluation system for all off-campus training for about 12,000 students annually, which will increase the quality of regional training.
- Added additional course support materials for the six regional offices statewide to better support off-campus delivery.
- Co-hosted an annual instructor’s conference in partnership with the S.C. Fire Instructors’ Association.

Division of Labor

- South Carolina continued to lead the nation with the most VPP Palmetto Star sites in any State Plan state. The Office of OSHA Voluntary Programs continued to offer regional training programs free-of-charge to employers across the state.
• The Migrant and Seasonal Farmworkers Commission began distribution to growers and workers in South Carolina the video package “Steps to Compliance – An Educational Tool for Growers in South Carolina” and “Avoiding Immigration Discrimination in Agriculture.” This was a joint project of the state and federal agencies that work with migrant workers and growers in the state. The commission also sponsored a seminar to present new ideas concerning migrant housing.
• The Office of Labor Services continued to educate the public through mailouts, personal contacts and speaking engagements throughout the year. The Child Labor Regulations were revised by the S.C. Legislature, and the revised Payment of Wages Statute is waiting approval from the Legislature. The changes will give citizens a better understanding and knowledge of the laws. Investigative forms were revised for more efficient field use. This gives investigators more time to spend working cases and reduces the amount of time spent writing reports. Also, the office continued to give penalty reductions for immediate correction of violations. Labor Services has initiated a partnership with the S.C. Department of Revenue for collection of delinquent penalties.
• OSHA worked with the state fire service to address the two-in, two-out regulation that will impact the fire service.

Division of Professional and Occupational Licensing
• This past year, representatives of the POL Division were involved in the agency’s strategic planning process along with representatives from other LLR Divisions. The agency goal is to improve services and overall image, as well as cultivate employee spirit and teamwork. Next year, when methods, plans and ideas will be put in motion, all POL Division employees will become involved in this process.

• Significant legislative additions and changes were passed by the General Assembly during the 1998 session. Most of this legislation became law in June and July of 1998 and affected the following boards of the POL Division:

  S.130 - Practice Act - Pharmacy Board
  S.271 - Practice Act - Architectural Examiners Board
  S.401 - Practice Act - Contractors’ Licensing Board
  S.472 - Practice Act - Occupational Therapy Board
  S.489 - Practice Act - Opticianry Board
  S.567 - Practice Act - Cosmetology Board
  S.718 - Practice Act - Psychology Board (also included S.951 School Psychologists and S.1128 LPC/LMFT/DAODAS)
  S.583 - Practice Act - Medical Examiners Board (Respiratory Care Practitioners)
  H-3330 - Practice Act - Geology Board
  H-3563 - Practice Act - Funeral Board
  H-3764 - Practice Act - Accountancy Board (CPA)
  H-3784 - Practice Act - Physical Therapy Board
  R.2282 - Regulation - Building Codes Council (Registrations)
  R.2283 - Regulation - Building Codes Council (Powers)
  R.2274 - Regulation - Engineers and Land Surveyors
  R.2277 - Regulation - Manufactured Housing Board
  R.2203 - Regulation - Dentistry Board (CE Hours)
  R.2278 - Regulation - Pilotage Commission
  R.2273 - Regulation - Athletic Commission
  R.2242 - Regulation - Long Term Health Care Administrators Board
  R.2272 - Regulation - Medical Examiners Board
  R.2270 - Regulation - Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology Board
  R.2284 - Regulation - Massage Therapy

• The growth and development of information technology within the POL Division continues to escalate. In a rapidly changing world and technological marketplace, LLR-Administration’s Office of Information Services, together with POL Division staff, monitor new and efficient processes and equipment as they evolve. Staff continuously develops and updates consistent methods for data access and maintenance within POL Division program areas. The computer imaging process continues for storage and archival of board records.

Administration

- Implemented use of the VISA procurement card, realizing an administrative savings in Fiscal Year 1998 in excess of $22,000.
- Replaced/consolidated copiers for a savings of $12,000.
- Coordinated the move of 10 board offices into the Kingstree building at the Koger Office Complex, which completed the placement of all professional and occupational licensing boards in one building for the first time.
- Surveyed the agency's Y2K status and brought total systems to 80 percent compliance by the end of Fiscal Year 1998 with an anticipated 100 percent completion by July 1999. This includes certifying all agency PCs as Y2K compliant.
- Expanded electronic document imaging to include three new program areas.
- Installed Microsoft Exchange mail system to replace Groupwise to give the agency the capacity to generate electronically-signed documents and to submit and review e-mail from the Internet.
- Implemented electronic forms templates for selected administrative documents in anticipation of electronic signature and interoffice forms transfer capability.
- Coordinated upper management Voice of the Customer training program designed to teach data collection techniques to learn what stakeholders think of our programs.
- Maintained state appropriations at Fiscal Year 1996 levels.
- Began development of an agency strategic plan with the help of the University of South Carolina’s Institute of Public Affairs.

Public Information

- In concert with Jack Abraham, EdD, Clemson University, and the S.C. State Firemen’s Association, prepared a strategic plan for public fire safety education in South Carolina. In addition to the plan, the office also developed a statewide media campaign to reduce fire deaths under the slogan, “Survivor or Statistic? Get Fire Smart.”
- Continued partnerships established between the state Fire Marshal’s Office and private associations, and between OSHA and Associated General Contractors, the S.C. Hospital Association, the American Society of Safety Engineers and the S.C. Chamber of Commerce.
- Solicited speaking opportunities for LLR Director Lewis F. Gossett to educate the public about the programs of LLR. As a result of the effort, Director Gossett spoke to 45 civic associations and organizations.
- Continued to expand information available to the public through the agency’s homepage on the Internet.
- Coordinated all aspects of the agency’s booth at the State Fair.
- Continued to develop new brochures and other educational materials about agency programs, boards and offices.
- Provided the public information from agency files under the state FOIA.
- Updated the agency procedures to assure compliance with newly amended FOIA.
The Division of Fire and Life Safety serves as the fire safety focal point for South Carolina, maintaining a statewide delivery system for fire prevention, protection and training services. The division provides leadership, guidance and services needed by the fire service to carry out its responsibilities at the local level. The Office of State Fire Marshal and the S.C. Fire Academy comprise the division.

Responsibilities

Statutory responsibilities for the primary programs of the division are as follows:

Code Enforcement (23-9-10 through 23-9-180):

Charges the State Fire Marshal with responsibility for requiring compliance with national and state-adopted fire safety codes and standards promulgated by the Division of Fire and Life Safety and the Liquefied Petroleum Gas Board and gives authority to the State Fire Marshal to inspect buildings for codes compliance.

South Carolina Fire Academy (23-10-10):

Charges the Fire Academy with the operation of a training facility to upgrade the state’s fire service personnel—paid, volunteer and industrial.

Office of State Fire Marshal

Programs

The Office of State Fire Marshal has regulatory responsibility to ensure compliance with state fire safety regulations. This is accomplished through inspection activities by deputy state fire marshals in the field and code consultation and plans review services provided by the Engineering Services Section. Fire prevention activities aimed at reducing the state’s fire death rate are managed by the Public Fire Safety Education Section. Activities include the distribution of smoke detectors, programs in the schools to educate youth and the dissemination of timely fire safety information to the public.

Public Fire Safety Education

Fire Death Statistics

The Office of State Fire Marshal collects fire death data to track and plan public fire education initiatives. During 1997, 97 fire deaths were reported, with heating, cooking and smoking-related incidents being the leading contributing factors. There were 20 deaths related to alcohol and/or drugs, one automobile accident, and two arson/murder incidents.

Get Alarmed, South Carolina!

The “Get Alarmed” program is a continuing fire safety program. The main objective of the program is to reduce fire deaths in South Carolina. There are two main goals associated with the program: 1) To alarm citizens about the fire problem and teach them about fire safety through an ongoing public awareness campaign; and 2) To provide smoke detectors to high-risk citizens throughout the state. Through a collaborative effort with the local fire service, community-based organizations, other state agencies and industry, about 400,000 smoke detectors have been distributed since its inception. In addition to these efforts, a broad-based smoke detector project was initiated involving the S.C. State Firemen's Association, Bi-Lo grocery stores, and the Office of State Fire Marshal. Grocery stores and county coordinators statewide were identified to promote the sale of smoke detectors at a reduced rate. More than 90,000 smoke detectors were provided to families throughout the state.

In an effort to increase public awareness about the fire problem, monthly news releases were developed and mailed to the media and appointed county coordinators. Fire safety behaviors and/or current events, which may require added emphasis on fire safety, are the focus (i.e. July 4th fireworks and holiday decorations).

A concerted effort to incorporate fire safety education into programs established by other state agencies which reach high risk groups continues to expand. DHEC’s Children’s Health Services, where nurses go into homes of low economic areas to provide in-home health care, also provide fire safety education and smoke detectors to those in need. A partnership with DHEC’s Office of Injury Prevention and Control Division has lead to several grant applications for continued assistance with public fire education initiatives. The State Fire Marshal’s Office has entered into a contract with the South Carolina Department of Disabilities and Special Needs (DDSN) to provide four regional fire safety training classes annually. Through a successful grant application to the National Safe Kids Campaign, in addition to fire safety training, 300 smoke detectors will be provided to clients of DDSN and fire safety materials will be distributed.

Training Workshops Offered
The Public Fire Education Section offered five statewide training workshops to help promote fire education. Topics ranged from conducting basic community fire and life safety, to the more enhanced training using characterization through clowning and puppetry to convey fire related messages. Juvenile firesetting intervention methods were provided to fire departments in the first in a series of training to combat the increasing problem of children involved with firesetting.

Fire Safety Curriculum For Public Schools
Public fire safety educational efforts of this office include the development and implementation of a comprehensive fire safety educational curriculum for students in kindergarten through fifth grade. Using the state’s public school system as its delivery mechanism, the kindergarten through first grade “Freddie’s Fire Smart Kids’ curriculum and the second- and third-grade curriculum, “Freddie’s Fire Safety Friends” have been developed and implemented on a limited basis, reaching about 50,000 students. Groundwork is in place to expand the “Freddie” curriculum to reach fourth, fifth and sixth grades during fiscal year 1997-98, with the full series to be completed and into the state’s school system by the year 2000-2001.

Comprehensive Plan For Public Fire Education
LLR entered into a contractual agreement with Jack Abraham, EdD, Clemson University, to prepare a comprehensive fire safety education plan with key goals to include:

- Expand the “Freddie” fire safety curriculum to every elementary classroom in the state.

- Make “Freddie” as recognizable to the public as “Smokey the Bear” is for the U.S. Forest Service.

- Launch a statewide media campaign similar to the Department of Public Safety’s “Highway or Dieways.”

- Put more emphasis on the annual celebration of Fire Prevention Week in October.
• Provide news releases that fire departments can use to get fire safety messages out to the public through the media.

South Carolina Fire Incident Reporting System

State law requires that the division collect and analyze data on fire incidents. Presently, more than 200 fire departments submit information on the types of calls they respond to each month whether fire or non-fire incidents. These departments are strategically located throughout South Carolina, providing a more accurate overview of the fires experienced. The reporting system captures information about the various activities of the fire service in addition to collecting causal factors on fire situations. With fire-related incidents, deaths and injuries, information is gathered and used at the local, state and federal levels. This information assists in identifying problem areas and developing programs to directly impact the monitoring and evaluating programs to determine their effectiveness in reducing the overall fire problem.

To perpetuate participation into the system, the Office of State Fire Marshal provides fire departments with computer software which captures needed information at no charge. The state’s offer to purchase incident reporting computer software for fire departments has made the program accessible to local fire departments and has increased participation in the system. About 40 fire departments submit data.

Inspection Services

Training seminars were conducted monthly for the deputies on a wide range of professional and personal development topics. The topics ranged from LP Gas installation at residential sites, LP Gas Transport operations, refresher training on use and operation of LP Gas detection meters, how the Americans with Disabilities Act impacts building construction and inspections and learning how to determine the differences between manufactured housing and modular buildings. Training also included conducting a proper inspection to how the Administrative Law Judge system works. Underwriter’s Laboratories conducted a free training seminar and tour of its facility.

The deputies were also encouraged to participate in a wide range of other professional association activities such as their counties’ fire chiefs associations and other fire service organizations.

The first draft of our inspection checklist for each type of inspection conducted was completed.

Efforts to cross train several of the deputies in the safe handling and use of explosives continued this year.

Inspections for Codes Compliance

The explosives function was transferred to the Office of State Fire Marshal during fiscal year 1996-97. Permits for magazines issued totaled 128. There were 150 blasters’ licenses issued and 298 blasting permits issued.

Engineering Services

Plans Reviews
The engineering staff provides comprehensive reviews of designs for buildings and building systems to determine compliance with state laws, regulations and codes. This service can identify unsafe designs before the building is constructed resulting in less expensive and often more effective code compliance. In 1996, the staff began a quality improvement program to streamline the review process with fewer delays for the “customers” (owners, designers, contractors). The average time from our receipt of plans to a review of these plans was reduced from 38 days to 18 days in 1996-97, and that was maintained through 1997-98 despite a 10 percent increase in submittals. This reduced time results in cost savings to the customer and more effective code enforcement.

In fiscal year 1997-98, 564 projects were reviewed.

Technical Assistance
The staff provided technical assistance to owners, designers, contractors and private citizens as well as state and local government officials. This assistance is provided through phone conversations, meetings, on-site visits and letters. The type of assistance ranges from simple questions on requirements to large and difficult fire protection engineering problems that are not specifically addressed by codes. The staff also maintains working relationships with regional and national fire protection organizations.

Education
In fiscal year 1998, the engineering staff continued to expand its role in educating designers, contractors and local officials about fire protection requirements and methods. The staff conducted presentations at seminars and professional association meetings, taught courses and published newsletter articles. The target is a proactive approach to fire protection at the local government and contractor level. This will enable local officials and designers to solve compliance problems at the local level, and allow the Office of the State Fire Marshal to provide expertise in situations where it is most needed.
In fiscal year 1997-98, 298 students were taught in Fire Marshal certification courses, and 61 students were taught in continuing education refresher courses.

South Carolina Fire Academy

The Fire Academy’s mission is to develop an instructional delivery system through which a standardized statewide firefighter training curriculum is developed and implemented to train a maximum number of career, volunteer and industrial fire service personnel. Services are provided to accomplish the following activities: developing the skills necessary to command and control emergency operations involving fire, rescue and hazardous materials incidents; developing the managerial and leadership skills for all levels of fire service officers; and developing skills in fire department support functions to include public fire education, fire prevention inspections and investigations.

The Fire Academy has three separate main program areas: Resident Training, Regional Training, and Curriculum, Instructor Certification and Accreditation. There are an estimated 800 fire departments with 18,000 paid and volunteer firefighters and 4,500 fire brigade members in South Carolina. Last year, the Fire Academy trained about 13,500 public fire service personnel and 3,500 industrial fire brigade students in 1,552 courses statewide.

Resident Training
The new Fire Academy facility has been in operation for two years. The new facility is the largest state fire academy facility in the country and is located off Monticello Road. It features modern classrooms, a 60-room dormitory, cafeteria, drill tower, seven-acre lake for diver training, six-bay fire station, student processing center, two burn buildings, flammable liquid and gas training pads, and two FAA-funded aircraft training props, which are computer controlled. Classes are conducted seven days a week at the site, with weekend classes held primarily for volunteers.

Curriculum, Accreditation and Certification
The Fire Academy operates an instructor certification system for about 600 part-time instructors, who teach Fire Academy courses in their fire departments. The certification system requires entry level and recertification requirements and consists of courses in instructor methodology as well as fire specific programs. The program is a key element in the delivery of 85 percent of all Fire Academy off-campus training. Curriculum development efforts this past year have been devoted to upgrading the Fire Academy’s industrial curriculum courses.

The Fire Academy operates a firefighter certification program and is accredited by the International Fire Service Accreditation Congress, which is operated by Oklahoma State University. The Fire Academy’s program consists of six separate certification areas with another 25 potential certification levels possible. Last year, the Fire Academy provided testing and certified about 450 firefighters.

Regional Training
The Fire Academy operates six regional offices (four staffed with full-time personnel), which deliver off-campus training statewide. Last year, the Fire Academy trained about 13,000 of the total 17,000 students through its regional office network. A training concept known as “train the trainer,” where the Fire Academy trains the public fire department’s training staff in educational methodology and specific fire courses, produced 80 percent of all students trained through regional offices. This system is efficient in that the Fire Academy issues certificates and maintains course records, but does not provide salary compensation or travel for instructor services. It does supervise and oversee the training for course quality and standard compliance.
DIVISION OF LABOR

South Carolina and federal laws are the source of various rights employers and employees have in their employer/employee relationships. LLR, Division of Labor, is one of several state and federal agencies which administers the laws assuring these rights. Occupational safety, payment of wages, child labor, migrant labor and mediation of disputes between unions and businesses all fall under this division. Elevators and amusement rides also are regulated to assure the public's safety.

Office of Elevators and Amusement Rides
The office was created in 1986 to administer the South Carolina Elevator Code and the South Carolina Amusement Ride Safety Code. To ensure compliance with both, the licensing staff of 10 inspectors conducts inspections of new and existing elevator facilities and amusement rides.

Elevator Safety Inspections
Under Chapter 16 of Title 41 of the South Carolina Code of Laws, 1976 (as amended), the Office of Elevators and Amusement Rides administers regulations governing construction, alteration and installation of new elevators, escalators, dumbwaiters, handicapped lifts and moving walks. It also administers safety standards for existing facilities. All safety standards are national consensus standards as published by the American National Standards Institute. The office and the special inspectors it licenses inspect elevator facilities and issue operating certificates.

Since registration of elevators formally began in July 1986, there have been 7,290 elevators registered in South Carolina. Those counties registering the highest number of elevators were Richland, Charleston, Greenville and Horry. A total of 5,977 inspections were conducted of elevator facilities, which included passenger and freight elevators, escalators, dumbwaiters, manlifts and handicapped lifts. Fees for inspections by the Office of Elevators and Amusement Rides are based on the contract price for new elevators under construction or on the number of floors served by an existing elevator. These fees amounted to $746,615 for inspections conducted during fiscal year 1997-98. Inspection fees charged by LLR and its special inspectors are set by regulation no more than once a year. Of the 5,997 inspections, 979 were performed by four special inspectors licensed by LLR.

Fines and re-inspection fees for elevators that did not comply with state laws totaled $25,282.50 for this fiscal year.

Amusement Ride Safety Inspections

Under Chapter 18 of Title 41 of the South Carolina Code of Laws 1976 (as amended), the Office of Elevators and Amusement Rides administers regulations governing the construction, alteration and installation of new elevators, escalators, dumbwaiters, handicapped lifts and moving walks. It also administers safety standards for existing facilities. All safety standards are national consensus standards as published by the American National Standards Institute. The office and the special inspectors it licenses inspect elevator facilities and issue operating certificates.

During fiscal year 1997-98, the office issued 692 operating permits for amusement devices and collected $61,762.50 in inspection fees. A total of 1,000 inspections were conducted on amusement devices. No inspections were conducted by special inspectors.

Fines and re-inspection fees for rides that did not comply with state laws totaled $4,700 this year.

Bungee Jumping

The office began regulating the practice of bungee jumping in July 1994. In fiscal year 1997-98, there were only two sites in the state. Both were in Myrtle Beach. The office collected $1,800 in fees.

Office of Labor Services

Wages

It is the responsibility of the Office of Labor Services to enforce the South Carolina labor laws regarding payment of wages and child labor. In 1986, the office was given new responsibilities and authority by passage of Act No. 412, a complete revision of the Payment of Wages Law. As signed by the Governor on April 21, 1986, this act requires employers to give written notice to employees of certain key provisions of their wages, to pay according to this notice, and to keep records of the payments. LLR is authorized to make inspections, issue warnings and citations, and assess civil penalties for violations of the act.

In 1989, the office was given new responsibilities by passage of Act No. 209, which is an amendment to state child labor laws as signed by the Governor on June 8, 1989. The amendment allows the agency to make findings concerning employers who engage in any oppressive child labor actions, to issue warnings and to assess civil penalties.

During fiscal year 1997-98, 1,744 businesses were investigated; 1,000 warnings were issued for violations of the record-keeping requirements of 41-10-30; and 800 citations were issued for violations of 41-10-40, payment of wages, accounting for $146,375 in assessed penalties.

Under §41-17-10 of the South Carolina Code of Laws, 1976 (as amended), the LLR director is responsible for assisting in the settlement of labor disputes (except railroads and express companies doing business by rail). Through the Office of Mediation for Organized Labor, the director investigates industrial disputes, strikes, lockouts, and their causes, and tries to help the two sides reach agreement. When requested by both sides, mediators will act as arbitrators or appoint other arbitrators. In general, the Office of Mediation tries to eliminate the causes of misunderstanding and differences between unionized labor and management.

This office also administers the South Carolina Right to Work Law (S.C. Code of Laws, §41-7-10 through §41-7-90), which provides that the rights of workers shall not be denied or abridged based upon their affiliation or non-affiliation with a labor union. During fiscal year 1997-98, there were 29 Right to Work complaints.

During fiscal year 1997-98, the Office of Mediation monitored and/or participated in 239 contract negotiations involving 18,404 union employees. Two strikes were reported that involved 2,694 union workers and a total of 338,728 lost work hours.

Migrant and Seasonal Farm Workers Commission

The South Carolina Migrant and Seasonal Farm Workers Commission is charged with the responsibility of “examination and supervision of the migrant labor programs in South Carolina, the cooperation with state and federal agencies in improving existing programs, and the coordination of programs to improve the conditions for migrant labor.”

The office operates as a clearinghouse by facilitating, coordinating and monitoring programs and services provided by public and private organizations.

The office works closely with all agencies addressing the laws pertaining to farmers and migrant and seasonal farm workers in South Carolina.

During fiscal year 1997-98, the office accomplished the following goals:

1. Actively participated in addressing problems and issues that affected migrant and seasonal farm workers. These cases involved housing, hiring practices, emergency assistance, terminations, immigration and referrals.

2. Continued to operate a toll-free telephone line with voice mail features in English and Spanish so that farm workers and individuals would have access to the office when it is closed or the staff is out of the office.

3. Distributed the South Carolina OSHA poster and the Services for Migrant Workers handbook in English and Spanish, which includes emergency numbers to help farm workers and growers secure services when needed.

4. Distributed the video package containing the two videos, “Steps to Compliance -- An Educational Tool for Growers in South Carolina” and “Avoiding Immigration Discrimination in Agriculture” to grower’s associations, agencies and individuals.

5. Sponsored a housing seminar for growers.

The purpose of the state Occupational Safety and Health Act is to assure working men and women a safe and healthful working environment. To see that the objectives of the act are met, the Compliance Section staff of 14 compliance officers and 11 industrial hygienists conducts inspections to ensure compliance with safety standards and initiates enforcement procedures in cases of noncompliance.

During fiscal year 1997-98, the Compliance Section conducted 1,534 inspections. Safety inspections numbered 1,267 or 82.5 percent of this total. Health inspections numbered 267 or 17.4 percent of total inspections. These figures represent a 10 percent increase in the total number of safety and health inspections compared to 1996-97 figures.

A further analysis of compliance activity reveals the following:

- 963 planned inspections
- 211 complaint inspections
- 76 accident and fatality investigations, which involved 25 fatalities
- 28 referral inspections
- 96 unprogrammed related inspections
- 62 follow-up inspections
- 93 programmed related inspections
- 5 monitoring inspections

A total of 3,223 violations were cited. The 916 other-than-serious violations accounted for 28.4 percent; 2,272 serious violations accounted for 70.5 percent; and 31 repeat violations accounted for 1 percent of the total violations. The adjusted penalties for these violations amounted to $1,089,516. Penalties collected during the fiscal year totaled $685,302. There were four willful violations, which accounted for less than 1 percent of total violations.

Technical Support Section

Integrated Management Information System

This section has the responsibility to compile, analyze and prepare accurate data as necessary concerning all safety and health inspections and activities which will assist in the management of the state OSH program. Data collected is used to plan, direct and evaluate the OSH program and to provide objective information on which to base policy decisions.
Statistics Section

Annual Occupational Injuries and Illnesses Survey

This annual survey of work-related injuries and illnesses by Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) is conducted by the Technical Support Section in cooperation with the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor. It is closely connected with South Carolina’s OSH plan.

By utilizing formal sampling techniques and estimating procedures, only a relatively small percentage of the total private sector employers are required to report under this system. Data collected in this survey is based on uniform record keeping requirements, which are mandatory under provisions of both the 1970 Occupational Safety and Health Act and corresponding state laws.

Data compiled from the survey includes items relating to hours worked, nature of business and injury/illness rates for various industry groups. These rates allow for comparisons, both between years and among industry groups, in order to measure the effectiveness of the state OSH plan and to provide a management tool for safety engineers and persons interested in measurements of work injuries and illnesses.

A total of 71,932 occupational injuries and illnesses were reported in 1996, a 6.5 percent decrease from 1994. Of the recordable cases, about one out of every 17 workers in South Carolina experienced a job-related injury or illness. Of the 71,932 recordable cases, an estimated 29,965 cases involved lost workdays. About 95.3 percent of the total cases were occupational injuries, and 4.7 percent were illnesses.

Questionnaires were mailed to 4,718 sample units. A relatively small portion of these were excluded because:

- The employer was no longer in operation
- They were included in a report for another location
- Duplicate survey forms were received for the same location
- Or the survey form was not mailed because of an inadequate address.

Original and follow-up mailings and telephone calls resulted in 3,619 usable questionnaires.

For further analysis and detailed data, refer to the South Carolina Occupational Injuries and Illnesses Survey, which is published annually by the Technical Support Section, LLR.

For information regarding the national data, please call the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Division at OSH, at (803) 734-4298.

Standards Section

Three public hearings were held during fiscal year 1997-98 to correct, amend or revise 33 existing OSHA standards and to promulgate three new standards.

(1) New Section 1910.134 on Respiratory Protection
(2) New Section 1910.139 on Respiratory Protection for Mituberculosis

DIVISION OF PROFESSIONAL AND OCCUPATIONAL LICENSING

Occupational licensure has a long history. Modern day licensure has its roots in workers’ guilds, which can be traced back to the 10th century in England. The first modern effort to regulate occupations and professions was Virginia’s medical practice act in 1639. In the late 1800s, state licensure activity began in earnest, and by 1900, a majority of the states had licensed attorneys, dentists, pharmacists, physicians and teachers. Between 1900 and 1960, most states licensed an additional 20 occupations and professions including accountants, nurses, real estate brokers, barbers, hairdressers, chiropractors and funeral directors. Today, more than 80 occupations and professions are licensed by one or more states.

Occupational licensing is an exercise of the state’s inherent police power to protect the health, safety and welfare of its citizens. State licensure is deemed appropriate when:

• unqualified practice poses a serious risk to a consumer’s life, health, safety or economic well-being;
• the public cannot accurately judge a practitioner’s qualifications; and
• benefits to the public clearly outweigh potential harmful effects of licensure (such as a decrease in the supply of practitioners).

The absence of these conditions generally indicates that licensure is not justified or that some alternative form of regulation such as registration or certification may be appropriate. Proponents of licensure argue that the purpose of licensure is to raise standards of practice, ensure quality service, and establish accepted codes of ethical behavior. In the last two decades, there has been a growing awareness of licensure’s concomitant responsibility to promote continuing professional education and competence and to enforce licensure laws against fraudulent, incompetent, and unethical behavior.

On Feb. 1, 1994, Act 181 created the South Carolina Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation (DLLR). This act restructured a significant portion of state government by merging the Department of Labor, The State Fire Marshal’s Office, the S.C. Fire Academy and 38 professional and occupational licensing boards to form the new agency. The Professional and Occupational Licensing (POL) Division was established to oversee the administration of the licensing boards. The boards are categorized and separated into five related offices:

- Office of Business and Related Services (BRS)
- Office of Design, Environmental and Building Services (ODEBS)
- Office of Health Related Professions (HRP)
- Office of Medically Related Professions (MRP)
- Office of Real Estate and Building Code Professions (REBCP)

The administration office for the division is the focal point and liaison office for all POL office groupings. Administration staff deals with issues which include:

• participation in agency strategic planning
• analysis of program effectiveness and cost efficiency
• assessment of information technology direction
• professional legal direction to boards during administrative hearings
• response to inquiries regarding licensing matters or other concerns and resolution of complaints
• oversight of procurement, personnel and other agency administrative matters
• investigation of diverse problems or situations which arise within the Division
• coordination of the DSS Child Support Enforcement Division license revocation process

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE LIAISON

The Legislative Liaison Office, which falls under the Office of the Director, handles all legislation, internally and externally, that affects LLR. The Legislative Liaison facilitates the submission of legislation to the General Assembly as well as tracks and monitors all legislation that affects the agency. Since LLR is a cabinet agency, the Legislative Liaison works closely with the Governor’s office in the initial filing stages and throughout the session so as to have input from the Governor’s office on all legislation affecting the departments within the agency.

The agency established a templating process for rewriting the licensing acts for LLR boards and commissions in 1996, Act 453, which was approved and passed by the General Assembly. Since that time, the agency has assisted several boards and commissions in rewriting their statutes. While the agency’s input is limited to the structured format and content as it relates to administrative issues, it does not infringe upon the boards’ autonomy and responsibility to regulate their respective fields.

The following is a list of practice acts and regulations introduced on behalf of the professional and occupational boards, as well as other related legislation that was introduced/monitored by LLR during the 1997-98 legislative session and the status of each:
