Quote by Governor Carroll A. Campbell, Jr.

Those who have not taken the time to explore their local libraries are missing one of the most valuable assets a community can offer. Libraries help citizens of every age understand the world through print, music, visual aids and a variety of unique and interesting programs. I've often told my children that if they really want to expand their horizons, they'll begin at the library.
