BILLS INTRODUCED IN THE HOUSE THIS WEEK.....	10

NOTE: THESE SUMMARIES ARE PREPARED BY THE STAFF OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND ARE NOT THE EXPRESSION OF THE LEGISLATION'S SPONSOR(S) OR THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. THEY ARE STRICTLY FOR THE INTERNAL USE AND BENEFIT OF MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND ARE NOT TO BE CONSTRUED BY A COURT OF LAW AS AN EXPRESSION OF LEGISLATIVE INTENT.

HOUSE WEEK IN REVIEW

The House of Representatives amended, approved, and sent the Senate H.3945, comprehensive ETHICS REFORM legislation. The legislation revises the means of investigating allegations of legislator misconduct by replacing the current system where the House and Senate have exclusive authority over disciplining their own members and, instead, referring such matters to a new bipartisan Joint Ethics Committee, composed of not only of Senators and House Members but also non-legislators selected from the general public. The Joint Committee on Ethics is composed of sixteen members: four Senators elected by the Senate; four House Members elected by the House of Representatives; and eight members who may not be members of the General Assembly or other public officials, four of whom must be elected by the Senate and four of whom must be elected by the House of Representatives. In the case of all the positions that a legislative body elects to the joint committee, half must be recommended by the body's majority party caucus and half must be recommended by the minority party caucus.

The legislation creates a South Carolina Public Integrity Unit to maximize existing resources, expertise, and available information to coordinate investigations of alleged government corruption, unethical conduct, and violations of the public trust, all of which are imperative to preserving the faith of the public in its institutions. The Public Integrity Unit is established as an investigative partnership composed of six partner members: (1) the Attorney General; (2) the Chief of the State Law Enforcement Division; (3) the Director of the Department of Revenue; (4) the Executive Director of the South Carolina Ethics Commission; (5) the Chairman of the Joint Committee on Ethics; and (6) the Inspector General. The members may provide staff from their respective agencies for the unit as necessary. The Public Integrity Unit accepts investigations by referral only and does not address complaints from the general public. The unit is established to receive allegations of criminal conduct from partner members, an appropriate supervisory office, or any other state agency authorized to receive complaints against public employees, officers, or officials. Completed investigations that substantiate serious criminal conduct may be provided directly to the Attorney General or a solicitor. Substantiated investigations not undertaken by the Attorney General or a solicitor, substantiated investigations deemed procedural errors, or unsubstantiated investigations must be returned to those that made the referral. The Public Integrity Unit is to be dissolved in ten years unless reauthorized by the General Assembly.

The legislation revises what a public official must disclose on a statement of economic interests. The legislation establishes requirements for disclosing the sources of private income that exceed $2,500. The legislation requires disclosure of the specific source and amount of income received by a public official, a member of the public official's immediate family, or a business with which the public official is associated if the public official directly derives income from a contractual or financial relationship, including a consultant or independent contractor relationship, with a lobbyist's principal. The legislation requires disclosure of the name of any governmental entity at the state level, if the filer is a state public official, or at the local level, if the filer is a local public official, from which the filer directly derives income from a contractual or financial relationship, including a consultant or independent contractor relationship, between that governmental entity and that public official, a member of the public official's immediate family, or a business with which the public official is associated.

The legislation expands regulation of lobbying to include activity at local levels of government (county, municipal and school board).

The legislation requires members of the General Assembly to offer detail on the potential conflict of interest that prompts them to recuse themselves from casting a vote or taking another official action. Also, the legislation requires public officials that are required to recuse themselves from votes to do so at all levels of consideration. The legislation provides that a public official, including members of the General Assembly, or a public employee, may not take a vote on or take an action on a matter in which he, an immediate family member, or a business with which he is associated, has a known financial interest.

The legislation authorizes public officials to represent clients before agencies if the matter can ultimately become a contested case and is, therefore, subject to review by the judicial system.

Currently, a candidate, committee, or ballot measure committee must maintain and preserve an account the occupation of each person making a contribution. The legislation provides that a written request for this information shall satisfy.

The legislation provides that during the 20 day period prior to an election, a candidate, committee or ballot committee must electronically report a information about a contribution of more than $250 or a contribution of less than $250 when combined with all other contributions accepted from the person during the period have not been reported, exceed $250. This electronic report must be made within forty-eight hours after receipt.

The legislation discontinues the use of what are commonly referred to as leadership PACs by prohibiting contributions from such political action committees.

The legislation provides that contributions received to retire campaign debt must be used for this purpose only.

The legislation prohibits campaign funds from being used to pay penalties and fines issued by the State Ethics Commission or the Joint Committee on Ethics pursuant to a finding of misconduct, or levied by a court as a result of any criminal convictions

H.3945 prohibits the head of any state agency or department who is selected by the Governor, General Assembly or an appointed or elected board from engaging in fundraising activity.

The House concurred in Senate amendments to H.3560 and enrolled the bill for ratification. The legislation establishes a new statewide MENTAL HEALTH ADJUDICATION AND COMMITMENT REPORTING initiative to compile information that is to be used to preclude firearms purchases and disallow concealed weapons permits for those who have been committed to mental institutions, have been found insane by a criminal court, or have otherwise been officially designated as mentally defective by a court. The legislation's Mental Health Adjudication and Commitment

Reporting initiative requires the Judicial Department and the State Law Enforcement Division (SLED) to work in conjunction to compile information regarding those who have been adjudicated as a mental defective or who have been committed to a mental institution. Adjudication as a mental defective involves a court making a determination that a person, as a result of marked subnormal intelligence, mental illness, mental incompetency, mental condition, or mental disease, is a danger to himself or to others or lacks the mental capacity to contract or manage his own affairs. This determination includes a finding of insanity by a court in a criminal case as well as a finding that someone is incompetent to stand trial or is not guilty by reason of insanity. Information amassed on those committed to mental institutions involve all formal commitments by courts, including all involuntary commitments, to mental hospitals, sanitariums, psychiatric wards, and other mental health facilities for mental illness, mental defectiveness, and other reasons, such as for drug use. This does not apply to voluntary admissions or to someone who is in a mental institution for observation. Information relating to a person's diagnosis or treatment may not be submitted and confidentiality provisions are included relating to submitted information. Courts must submit information on individuals who have been adjudicated as a mental defective and those who have been committed to a mental institution to SLED on an ongoing basis, and SLED is required to transmit the information to the National Instant Criminal Background Check System, which is used by federal firearms licensees to determine instantly whether a prospective buyer is eligible to buy firearms. The legislation provides that persons adjudicated as mental defective or who have been committed to a mental institution are prohibited from shipping, transporting, possessing or receiving firearms or ammunition under state law, as in federal law. Additionally, SLED must review the state's concealed weapons permit holder list to determine if a person adjudicated as a mental defective or someone who has been committed to a mental institution possesses a current concealed weapons permit. If the review reveals that such an individual holds a concealed weapons permit, the permit is revoked and must be surrendered to law enforcement. Procedures are included for law enforcement to retrieve the permit should the holder fail to return it within ten days of being notified of its revocation. An appeals process is included that allows someone to petition the court to remove a firearms and ammunition prohibition.

The House did not concur in Senate amendments to S.2, a bill providing ELECTION LAW REFORM measures, and a conference committee was appointed to address differences with the Senate on the legislation.

high school students must achieve a passing score on both High School Assessment Program (HSAP) tests. This legislation provides that all students must take the HSAP tests, but successful passage of the tests is no longer a requirement to graduate. The legislation further provides that an eligible student who previously failed to receive a high school diploma or was denied graduation solely for failing the exit exam may reenroll in high school and will not have to pass the exit exam to receive a high school diploma, and the legislation requires the Department of Education to remove any conflicting requirements and promulgate conforming changes in its applicable regulations. Additionally, the legislation creates the High School Assessment Study Committee to consider whether the high school assessment program should remain the accountability assessment used by the state and to recommend an alternative, if necessary. The legislation provides for the composition and staffing of the study committee, and it requires the committee to make a report to the General Assembly no later than January 31, 2014, at which time the study committee must be dissolved.

The Governor appoints two members from the state at large, one of whom must be appointed on the recommendation of the South Carolina State University National Alumni Association or its successor, recommended by that body in a secret ballot election conducted at its annual meeting. During the time of tribute, those memorialized must be identified on a conspicuous place on the Governor's website.

The House approved S.448, legislation dealing with physicians' supervisory relationship requirements with PHYSICIAN ASSISTANTS, and enrolled the bill for ratification. The legislation states that a licensed physician who accepts the responsibility to supervise a physician assistant's activities, must enter into a supervisory relationship with a physician assistant. The physician must notify the Board of Medical Examiners of South Carolina, in writing, of the proposed supervisory relationship and include the proposed scope of practice guidelines for the relationship. The legislation further outlines that no more than three full-time physician assistants can be supervised by a supervising physician. A physician assistant may practice in a public place, a private place, or a facility where the supervising physician regularly sees patients, may make house calls,
