Family Fun Day Offers Activities for Entire Family at State Farmers Market

Are you looking for a great family activity this summer? Come out to the Corbett Building at the State Farmers Market for Family Fun Day on Saturday, June 28 from 10 a.m. until noon.

Visit the Market Pavilion inside the Corbett Building to shop for local products during the Grand Opening of Five Rivers Market, an indoor farmers and specialty market. Grab lunch in the building at Dupre at the Market, a restaurant that serves fresh, local dishes or from their food truck outside.

The SC Department of Agriculture's commodity boards will be passing out free samples of great Certified SC products. Enjoy a taste of local peanuts, peaches, watermelon, pork, and beef while supplies last.

AgAware, an AgSouth Farm Credit program designed to educate the next generation of farmers, is hosting a learning demonstration for kids.

Join AgSouth for a special presentation at 10:30 a.m. at the Corbett Building. Speakers will include Commissioner of Agriculture Hugh Weathers as well as Ronnie Summers and Van McCall with AgSouth Farm Credit.

For more information on the event contact Elizabeth Shuler at eshuler@scda.sc.gov or 803-734-0328. The State Farmers Market is located at 3483 Charleston Hwy., West Columbia.

Ag Experience Adds to the Fun

AgSouth will lead adults and children through "The Ag Experience: Counting Collards." According to marketing manager Miriam Pflug, "We want to showcase South Carolina's state vegetable--the collard--while educating the public about what it takes to grow the food we eat in a fun, easy-to-understand manner."

"The food we eat is generated by farmers who plant and harvest our crops, lenders that finance the farmers, agricultural production companies that use those crops to make all sorts of food and products, businesses that sell the products as well as consumers who purchase them," explained Van McCall, creator of the program and Chief Lending Officer for AgSouth. "There are many hands connected to the one strong arm of agriculture." He hopes that after attending Family Fun Day at the Market, participants will come away with a better understanding of agriculture and what it takes to get food on the table.

Kids and adults will visit several learning stations to simulate what it takes to grow collards. They will learn about ag lending, crop production, and marketing and selling their crops in a fun, hands-on environment. There will also be a variety of games and other activities for children.

Five Rivers Market Opens

An exciting addition to the Farmers Market is the grand opening of Five Rivers Market. The 8,000-square-foot artisan, farmers and specialty foods market in the Corbett Building.

The new marketplace features the best of local and regional foods and products in several categories. The new Five Rivers location will offer both booth and display spaces for more than 60 agricultural, artisan and specialty food vendors.

Farm-fresh fruits and vegetables, specialty food products, wine and gourmet items, artisan and craft items, as well as specialty shops will be featured. In short, anything made or produced on a farm can be found at Five Rivers. Vendors do not have to be present to sell items. Once the space is set up, Five Rivers Market takes care of the rest. Their motto is "We make it affordable for small business to do business!"

Hugh E. Weathers
Commissioner

Clemson's Ice Cream

I don't need much of an excuse to think about ice cream, but with June being Dairy Month, this is a great opportunity to spotlight an old favorite -- the wonderful MicroCreamery at Clemson University.

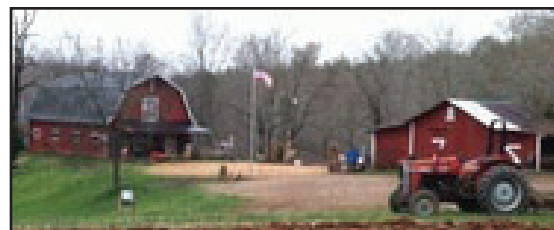

Some of you probably realize that Clemson has a long history with homemade ice cream. As far back as the 1920s, Clemson had a creamery in the basement of the Plant and Animal Science building. The tiny ag sales room on the first floor was staffed by a woman who sat behind a bar and sold dairy products. These included single and double scooped ice cream in cones or paper cups for 5 and 10 cents, milk shakes, milk in glass bottles, one pound blocks of butter, and buttermilk and chocolate milk by the glass. The basic ice cream flavors were peach, vanilla, strawberry, chocolate and lemon custard.

Years later (2001), the MicroCreamery was restarted, and five years later, the Food Science and Human Nutrition Department took over the program. One of their best moves was returning to Clemson's original ice cream formula. The students collaborated with Clemson's Class of 1955 Golden Anniversary Committee and the result was The 55 Exchange at the Hendrix Student Center. Last summer, it was my final stop after the closing ceremony of Commissioner's School.

Steak Kabobs & Wild Rice with Mushrooms

1 pound beef Round Tip Steak, cut 1 inch thick
 ½ small red onion, cut into ¾-inch wedges
 1 small yellow summer squash, cut lengthwise in half then crosswise into 1 inch slices
 1 small red or green bell pepper, cut into 1-inch pieces

Marinade:

2 tablespoons water
 2 tablespoons coarse-grain Dijon-style mustard
 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
 2 large cloves garlic, minced
 2 teaspoons vegetable oil
 ½ teaspoon coarse grind black pepper

Rice:

2 teaspoons vegetable oil
 2 cups thinly sliced mixed mushrooms such as cremini or shiitake
 1 package (6 ounces) wild rice blend

Total Recipe Time: 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Cut beef steak into 1-1/4-inch pieces. Combine marinade ingredients. Place beef and marinade in food-safe plastic bag; turn to coat. Close bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 6 hours or as long as overnight, turning occasionally.

Heat 2 teaspoons oil in large nonstick skillet over medium heat until hot. Add mushrooms; cook and stir until tender. Remove and keep warm. Meanwhile cook rice according to package directions, omitting salt and butter. When rice is done, stir in mushrooms.

Soak eight 9-inch bamboo skewers in water 10 minutes; drain. Remove beef from marinade; discard marinade. Alternately thread beef, onion, squash and pepper evenly onto skewers. Place on grid over medium, ash-covered coals. Grill, covered, 8 to 10 minutes (over medium heat on preheated gas grill, covered, 9 to 10 minutes) for medium rare (145°F) to medium (160°F) doneness, turning occasionally.

Serve kabobs over wild rice.

Lemon Greek Yogurt Cheesecake Bars with Berry Swirl

8 graham cracker sheets
 4 tablespoons butter, melted
 2 large eggs
 2 cups
 2% low-fat plain Greek yogurt
 ½ cup granulated sugar
 4 ounces reduced fat cream cheese (Neufchatel), softened
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 Zest of one lemon
 1 cup sliced strawberries or raspberries
 1 teaspoon granulated sugar

Prep time: 20 minutes. Cook time: 45 minutes. Yield: 9 servings.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

In a food processor, pulse graham cracker sheets to form crumbs.

Add melted butter; pulse to combine and press into the bottom of a greased 8- x 8-inch baking dish.

Wipe food processor clean; add eggs and remaining bar ingredients (not berries). Process just until smooth (do not over process).

Pour mixture into pan on top of crust.

In a medium bowl, combine berries and sugar; cover with a paper towel and microwave for 90 seconds.

Pour berry mixture into food processor and process until smooth; let cool.

Pour berry mixture into 4-5 lines across filling in pan. Use a knife to swirl into top of filling.

Bake at 350 degrees F for 35-40 minutes or until crust starts to pull away from edges of the pan and edges of filling are mostly set (center will still be slightly jiggly).

Once cooled, place in refrigerator and chill for 3-4 hours. Cut into bars and serve.

What's so special about this ice cream operation is that it's run completely by students. Sara Stancil, a faculty member who oversees the students, explained that the signature ice cream flavor program allows a student employee to design his or her own unique flavor. Brad's Caramel Cookie Dough, Ashley's Hot Apple Pie, and Heather's Goober Goo are a few examples.

Each year the MicroCreamery has a contest to pick new flavors. Different student organizations submit suggestions. Then the food science department studies the flavor profile and tests the production side.

The four most popular new flavors are added to the menu. This turns out to be a great exercise to prepare students for the real world if they pursue a career in ag marketing.

Obviously, not every flavor is a hit. One of the flavors that didn't make the grade was ice cream with jalapeno peppers. You never know what combinations might work, but that one was definitely stretching it. Today's popular flavors include the tried and true vanilla and peach ice cream, but Jason's Banana Pudding and Ben's CoCo Cookie Dough are the new favorites. Other flavors that made the final four in Clemson's annual Ice Cream with a Heart contest are Cheesecake Supreme, Snow-kissed Mint, Pineapple Upside Down Cake, and Shark Attack. I believe a return trip to The 55 Exchange is in order.

So the next time you're in Clemson, run by The 55 Exchange at the Hendrix Center and have some ice cream. The Tiger Slab—another new feature—allows customers to choose any toppings they want, and the custom ice cream will be mixed right in front of you on a cold slab. Ice cream is also available to go, so you might want to take a cooler with you. They are open every day this summer, except July 4.

Next year, I'm tempted to anonymously submit Blanche's homemade butter pecan recipe. If it is added, the Clemson dairy would have to milk more cows to keep up with the demand.

Ag + Art Tour

The expanded Ag + Art Tour will be held June 21 and 22 in four counties in the Catawba Region: Chester, Fairfield, Lancaster, and York. Each county will introduce its own agritourism sites, with the added incentive of local artists at each venue. The variety is superb, and each county has enough activity to entertain families for the whole day.

The Catawba Regional Ag + Art Tour is a free, self-guided tour of farms and artisans. Visitors can see first-hand where their food comes from, watch artists in action and purchase their works, dance to the melodies of bluegrass and folk songs, and learn more about rural life. It is the largest free farm tour in the nation (48 sites!) and the only farm tour in the state that features artisans.

Founded in York County in 2012, the tour expanded into Lancaster County in 2013. Chester and Fairfield counties are participating this year. Hours are 9-5 Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Here's a random sample of what you can see and do, but pick where you want to go by visiting the website. Take a trip down a country road and explore the agriculture and artistic heritage of the region. A total of 48 interesting places, from farms to restaurants, will be showcased.
