HUNTINGTON BEACH STATE PARK

A pristine Grand Strand beach encompassing Atalaya, the National Historic Landmark winter home of Archer and Anna Hyatt Huntington, makes Huntington Beach State Park one of South Carolina's most recognizable landmarks. Relax with a sea breeze off the Atlantic Ocean while camping, enjoy some of the finest surf fishing South Carolina has to offer and experience some of the top bird-watching on the East Coast. Choose from a variety of programs throughout the year that offer an educational and fun experience. Alligators also call Huntington Beach State Park's freshwater lakes home, giving visitors the opportunity to view these unique animals in their native habitat.
