SC DD Council Executive Director, Valarie Bishop

The disability community continues to move towards inclusion and strengthening advocacy and increasing positive collaborations and partnerships.

This year, it has been amazing to see self-advocates and their families thrive while still in the midst of the pandemic. As we continued following safety protocols and making decisions about returning to in-person, I would like to thank our grantees for ensuring needs were met and programs continued. Thank you for making necessary adjustments in how to best provide those services. Those efforts have kept the core focus on advocacy, capacity building, and systemic change. These partnerships were critical in the passing of the sub-minimum wage bill.

A special, "Thank You!" to the DD Council Members, to the staff, to our grantees, agencies, organizations, stakeholders, and EVERYONE committed to moving boundaries and removing barriers.
