

Children's Foster Care Review Board
SOUTH CAROLINA OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

Citizens Advocating Safety and Permanence for Children

The Road to Permanence

2007—2008 Annual Report and Recommendations

"Nothing you do for children is ever wasted."

Garrison Keillor

Mission Statement:

The South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board provides an external system of accountability and advocacy for children and families involved with the foster care system; utilizes panels of community volunteers to promote safe, permanent homes for children in foster care in a timely manner; and increases public awareness regarding the impact of child abuse and neglect.

Vision Statement:

The South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board will be viewed by the Department of Social Services, the Family Court, the Legislature, other community partners, and the citizens of South Carolina as a valuable source of information regarding the status of the child welfare system.

Program Description:

South Carolina was the first state in the nation to pass a law allowing citizens from each community to become involved in the child welfare system by participating in individual case reviews of children in foster care. The purpose of foster care review is to recommend a permanent home for the child in foster care without unnecessary delay by returning the child home or placing the child in another stable, permanent home. Foster care review promotes safety and permanence, identifies gaps in services, and increases public awareness regarding abuse and neglect.

Each of South Carolina's sixteen judicial circuits must have at least one local review board. Citizen volunteers in each circuit review the cases of all children who spend longer than four consecutive months in foster care. Each child's case is reviewed every six months by a local review board until the child reaches the age of eighteen or is no longer in the custody of the South Carolina Department of Social Services. Following each child's review, a written recommendation is sent to the Family Court, the Department of Social Services, and other interested parties. Local review boards have five members, who are appointed by the Governor, upon recommendation of the local legislative delegation.

Additional information about the South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board is available on our website at www.oepp.sc.gov/fcrb/.

Data contained in this Annual Report represents children reported by the South Carolina Department of Social Services, who remain in foster care at least four consecutive months and are reviewed by the South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

"If you don't know where you are going, any road will get you there."

Lewis Carroll
1832-1898

Are we on the right road when it comes to ensuring safe, permanent homes for all children living in South Carolina's foster care system? When you consider the many factors impacting the choices made during a child's journey through the foster care system, this becomes a very hard question to answer. Throughout 2007, the South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board worked closely with State partners to attempt to streamline the multiple roads taken to secure better choices for our children. There must be a sense of urgency connected to our efforts as the number of children coming into care in need of permanent families continues to increase.

The South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board conducted 8,981 reviews for 5,347 children during calendar year 2007, continuing a six-year growth trend. More specifically, local boards reviewed 400 more children and held over 500 more reviews during 2007 than during 2006. In spite of the increases and heavier caseloads, volunteers serving on local foster care review boards continue to contribute their many unique qualifications in order to provide in-depth and objective insight into a child's experience in foster care. The biggest challenge facing volunteer review board members continues to be identifying effective ways of addressing the multitude of challenges facing South Carolina's over-burdened child welfare system, and assisting agencies and programs working to keep up with the demands of that system.

The Review Board's 2007—2008 Annual Report provides a snapshot of the many obstacles and opportunities facing citizens in South Carolina who care about the lives and futures of its children. The activities and accomplishments of the 180 active review board volunteers and staff are presented, along with recommendations for system improvement. Each recommendation is derived from the data generated from local review board meetings and the staff and local advocacy efforts supported by our volunteers.

A common purpose and a sense of urgency are needed to complete this important journey. Please join us as we navigate the road to permanence for South Carolina's children in foster care. There is no time for wrong turns or additional road blocks—our children have waited long enough.

Executive Director

2007 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- ◆ Citizens serving on local foster care review boards donated 16,521 hours of volunteer service to the child welfare system during 2007. The 2007 dollar value for volunteer time is $19.51 per hour, bringing the total amount of the Foster Care Review Board's in-kind donation to $287,357.49 for the state of South Carolina.
- ◆ 32 local review boards participated in 85 quarterly local partnership meetings with representatives from the South Carolina Department of Social Services, the South Carolina Foster Parent Association, the South Carolina Volunteer Guardian ad Litem Program, and other community partners. The purpose of these meetings is to discuss solutions to systemic county concerns identified at local review board meetings that impact children in foster care, as well as issues and concerns raised by other partners.
- ◆ 32 local review boards completed service projects in their assigned counties. These projects filled identified needs and requests made by the Department of Social Services, providing support to the counties' foster care systems and addressing specific needs of individual children.
- ◆ 28 local review boards implemented procedures to communicate regularly with their legislative delegations about the status of children in foster care in their counties. This routine communication provides valuable feedback to the legislators who not only recommend review board members for appointment to their local review boards, but also propose legislation that impacts the child welfare system.
- ◆ 17 local review boards met with Family Court Judges assigned to their respective judicial circuits in order to discuss legal trends impacting children in foster care in their communities. The recommendations and data compiled by local review boards in each circuit provide judges with in-depth information that can enhance legal processes for children.
- ◆ 16 local review boards facilitated the presentation of the 2006 Review Board Annual Report to county legislative delegations. These presentations are another important means of communicating the needs of children in foster care to members of the South Carolina General Assembly.
- ◆ 102 children reviewed by local review boards in 2007 were represented by Foster Care Review Board legal staff at 122 court hearings across South Carolina. Review Board program staff also provided targeted, post-review, supplemental advocacy on behalf of 1,381 children in foster care.

2007 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- ◆ State Board of Directors Chairperson Vernon McCurry, Review Board 5C member Rachel Silver, and Executive Director Denise Barker were appointed by Governor Mark Sanford to serve on the Governor's Task Force for Children in Foster Care and Adoption Services. The purpose of the Task Force was to identify ways to improve the efficiency and quality of South Carolina's foster care and adoption processes, and propose ways to reduce the time it takes to find permanent adoptive homes for these vulnerable children. Recommendations from the Task Force were presented to Governor Sanford in February 2008.
- ◆ In November 2007 the South Carolina Review Board System hosted a strategic planning session for the steering committee of the National Foster Care Review Coalition. Representatives from seven states participated in the two-day meeting. Sarah Greenblatt from Casey Family Services was the guest facilitator for the group.
- ◆ During 2007, over 1,200 biennial evaluative surveys were distributed to parties participating in local review board meetings and other system stakeholders who interact with the Foster Care Review Board. Response from the surveys indicated that the Review Board is on track with overall expected performance outcomes and identified specific areas in which the Review Board should work to improve.
- ◆ The South Carolina Heart Gallery, a collective effort by the South Carolina Foster Care Review Board and the South Carolina Department of Social Services, is a traveling photo exhibit designed to raise awareness of the need for adoptive homes for legally free children. In 2007 the South Carolina Heart Gallery photographed 124 children and held seven exhibits.

Rachel Silver of Review Board 5C in Richland County was selected "2007 Review Board Member of the Year." Special commendations from both the South Carolina Senate and the South Carolina House of Representatives honoring her exemplary service to children in foster care were presented to Mrs. Silver by Senator Joel Lourie on April 25, 2008.

Local Review Boards 5B, 5C, and 5D of Richland County were named "2007 Review Boards of the Year" for their efforts to establish a child care program for the Richland County Foster Parent Association. Members serving on each of these local boards received special commendations from both the South Carolina Senate and the South Carolina House of Representatives, which were presented by Senator Joel Lourie on April 25, 2008.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board is supported by a seven-member State Board of Directors. The State Board meets quarterly and is responsible for reviewing and coordinating the activities of local review boards and making recommendations in an Annual Report to the Governor and General Assembly. The seven members are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate.

2007—2008 State Board of Directors' Recommendations

- ◆ The South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board will increase awareness of the need for safe, permanent homes in a timely manner for children in foster care through trainings, meetings, and service on the State Board of Directors and child welfare committees.
- ◆ The South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board will enhance communication with the Judiciary. To ensure the Family Court is aware of the barriers to permanence for children in foster care, local review boards will meet with judges, increase their presence in the courtroom, and serve on the Governor's Task Force for Children in Foster Care and Adoption Services and the Bench-Bar Committee.
- ◆ The South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board will identify South Carolina legislators who are concerned about children's issues and who are interested in sponsoring and supporting legislation that promotes safe and timely permanent homes for children in foster care.
- ◆ The South Carolina Children's Foster Care Review Board will contract with the South Carolina Department of Social Services to expand and fully implement the South Carolina Heart Gallery. The South Carolina Heart Gallery is a collaborative photo recruitment program to promote adoption for legally free children in foster care.
