

State of South Carolina

Governor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, the South Carolina Science Council is a professional organization of teachers and others who are interested in improving science education in the Palmetto State; and

WHEREAS, the Council has adopted goals that include providing activities to help develop leadership and teaching skills, information on current trends and issues in science education, and opportunities to promote the exchange of ideas among interested parties; and

WHEREAS, in addition to publishing a newsletter and sponsoring annual science conventions, the Council founded the South Carolina Hall of Science and Technology and supports student organizations in the Palmetto State, including the Junior Academy of Science and the JETS; and

WHEREAS, this year, the South Carolina Science Council is celebrating its 30th Anniversary.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Mark Sanford, Governor of the Great State of South Carolina, do hereby proclaim November 3, 2005, as throughout the state and encourage all South Carolinians to recognize the Council and its members for their positive contributions to science education in the Palmetto State.
