Section D: Processing of State Documents – Physical Items

I. General Information

When a physical state document is received by the State Library, a decision is made as to whether the document is to be cataloged. All publications sent to depository libraries have been cataloged. All documents in a depository shipment will be listed on the shipping list which accompanies the shipment.

II. The Shipping List for Physical Documents

A. Organization on the shipping list

1. The Shipping List is arranged by State Documents Classification number. Ephemera are listed by issuing agency, title, and OCLC number. Serials, including annuals, monthly and weekly publications, and periodic publications, are listed separately, as are documents not included in depository shipments.
2. The format of the shipping list is as follows:
 - a) Serials
 - b) Monographs
 - c) Ephemera (cataloging supplied, but libraries are not required to keep these items)

B. Sample shipping list

(see Appendix 2)

Shipping lists may also be found online in our Digital Collections:

<https://southc.dspace7.dspace-express.com/handle/10827/5405>

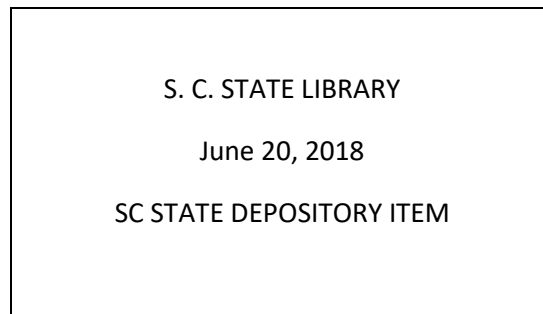

C. Checking in items on shipping list

1. The shipment should be checked against the shipping list for possible errors or omissions.
2. If a document has been omitted, please notify the State Library giving the specific title of the document and the date of the shipping list.
3. A decision should be made by the individual depository library as to the disposition of documents categorized as “ephemera”. Any document selected to be cataloged should be routed to the technical services or appropriate department for processing.
4. Items of limited distribution:

When the State Library determines that an issuing agency cannot supply sufficient copies of a document to meet depository requirements, the State Library will make a decision as to which depository library will receive the publication. Such decisions will be based on local interest in the topic covered by the particular document. The item will be crossed out in red on the shipping list denoting that the library will not receive the document. In all cases, the State Library will acquire copies for interlibrary loan.

5. Each document should be stamped with the depository library's state documents depository stamp. The stamp should include local ownership and date of receipt. The following is an example of a depository stamp:

6. Retention of shipping list:

Libraries may discard shipping lists at their own discretion after cataloged items have been added to the collection.

III. Cataloging and classifying state documents

A. General information

Refer to the shipping list for the OCLC number for cataloging and classification. The descriptive cataloging conforms to RDA which all depository libraries should use. The subject cataloging uses Library of Congress subject headings. The State Documents Classification number is given, although depository libraries may determine which classification system to use.

B. Cataloged documents

1. Libraries may use the OCLC number to retrieve bibliographical records on the OCLC database.
2. Those libraries using the state documents classification system will need to refer to the shipping list and input the state documents classification number in the 099 field of the OCLC record. If the 099 field is already used for another special classification, the library may have to request a change in the OCLC profile.

3. "Cataloging required" documents

- a) Monographs should be fully cataloged through OCLC and included in the public catalog.
- b) Serials, excluding periodicals
 - 1. Same as 3. a. Monographs
 - 2. Once the State Library has supplied cataloging data for a serial, no further cataloging will be sent on the shipping list. The shipping list will include the serial title and date of issue being sent which is to be used to update local library holdings records.
 - 3. When a serial has been cataloged, depository libraries may exercise local option in selecting a check-in procedure.
 - 4. For monographic serials, cataloging will be supplied.
- c) Periodicals – see 4b.

4. Supplementary materials to previously supplied items

- a) Supplements, revision pages and errata sheets, which are occasionally issued by state agencies, will be listed on the shipping list by state documents classification number and the title of the document which they supplement.
- b) Supplements should be marked and treated like the parent document.
- c) Revision pages and errata sheets require no processing and should be inserted in the base volumes promptly.

IV. Ephemera

- 1. Publications which the State Library has decided not to catalog will be listed in alphabetical order on the shipping list by agency. The decision to declare an item ephemera may be based on one or more of the following reasons:
 - a) Information is not of lasting value.
 - b) Information is extracted from a more substantial state document.
 - c) Information is not unique to South Carolina state government and has been produced as a public information service.

2. Maintenance of ephemera is not required under the depository library agreement. Depository libraries may wish to consider the following options in dealing with ephemera:
 - a) file in vertical files
 - b) use as display materials
 - c) place on general distribution table
 - d) catalog
 - e) discard immediately

Section E: Documents in Electronic Format

When state agencies began posting documents to their websites, the State Library realized that the future of the documents depository system would begin to change. The Library would copy the publications onto archival paper and would provide a link to the document in the public catalog. In a short time, agency websites changed and documents were often taken down. Agency domain names often changed also. The public catalog quickly accumulated broken links and documents were lost.

In 2005, the State Library began harvesting agency publications that had been published in electronic format, including born-digital. Documents are saved as PDFs and made accessible online in the South Carolina State Documents Depository. Documents are archived and backed up in library servers, so that they will be permanently accessible. A monthly list of new born-digital documents are provided by us, and sent to the SC State Documents Depository libraries. Each document has its own unique URL. As with print documents, electronic format documents may be candidates for a Notable State Documents award.

- Depository Libraries are encouraged to save electronic documents to their own library catalogs.
- Depository Libraries should also record on catalog records electronic editions of serials, particularly the major titles listed in: Section D-2 (Retention and Discarding of State Documents), I.A. (Retention of State Documents, Guidelines), 2.b.; Section F (Public Service Use of State Documents), II. (State documents of reference value).
- If saving electronic documents to library catalogs is not a policy of the Depository Library, the depository librarian should direct users to the online State Library catalog, SCLENDs, or to the electronic documents in the South Carolina State Documents Depository.
- Depository staff should become familiar with electronic documents in the South Carolina State Documents Depository.
- Depository Librarians are encouraged to become familiar with information found in the South Carolina State Documents Depository subject guide.

Section F: Retention and Discarding of State Documents

- I. Retention of state documents
 - A. Guidelines
 1. All materials received through the state document depository system that are designated as required or optional cataloging must be retained for a period of five full years from the date of the document's publication.
 2. Exceptions
 - a. In the case of a title which has been clearly superseded by a newer edition, the earlier edition may be discarded.
 - b. Due to their historical value, the following titles may not be discarded without prior approval by the South Carolina State Library.
 - 1) Legislative manual
 - 2) S.C. Vital and Morbidity Statistics
 - 3) Detailed Mortality Statistics, South Carolina
 - 4) South Carolina Statistical Abstract
 - 5) Economic Report, the State of South Carolina
 - 6) South Carolina State Budget
 - 7) Crime in South Carolina
 - c. There are no retention requirements governing state documents received as ephemera.
 - II. Discarding of state documents
 - A. Procedures
 1. Using your discretion to distinguish between "less important" titles, send a list of the "important" titles you plan to discard to the State Government Documents Librarian at the State Library to fill in any losses in that collection.

Section G: State Documents Classification System

The classification system for South Carolina state documents was devised by the State Library in 1970. It is based on a combination of the system devised by Raynard Swank for international, state, county, and municipal documents and the Documents Office Classification for federal documents.

Utilizing letters and numbers, the state documents classification system provides an alphabetic by agency arrangement with form division numbers for type of publication. Individual publications are denoted by year of coverage or by Cutter number.

SIMPLIFIED CUTTER TABLE FOR SOUTH CAROLINA

A-B	1
E-G	3
H-K	4
L-O	5
P-R	6
S-T	7
U-W	8
X-Z	9

The "Cutter" number is formed by writing the first letter of the word to be Cuttered, followed by the numbers for the next two letters:

e.g. Birds = B46

Tax = T19

*See Appendix 1 for full Outline of South Carolina State Documents Classification System.

Section H: Marketing and Promotion of State Documents

Using state documents depends upon two concepts: knowing that the documents with the needed information exist, and finding that information. Promotion of the collection must first make the users aware of the information available to them. Only then can library staff begin to help find the needed information.

To help promote your collection, consider some of these ideas:

- Include mention of and stop at the collection when giving tours of the library.
- Display the South Carolina State Documents Depository logo on websites and letterheads, or on related LibGuides. The logo is available at <https://www.statelibrary.sc.gov/about/media-kit>.
- Inform other staff of state government information.
- Consider offering introductory sessions or classes on state government information.
- Include state documents in information displays, particularly in offsite displays.
- Include state documents in a “new resources” newsletter.
- Add state documents titles and resources to your catalog.
- Promote and showcase state documents through your social media resources.

3. Supplements to publications are noted as:

a. For dated supplements, the 3 digits of the year will follow sup.
